With your permission, I wanted to try out how the detail and contrast enhancement plug-in handles such images. If its performance meets all your expectations, in the future I plan to install it myself and test how it works. - Great, let's get started. I'll give you some time to test. - said Oleg, giving his business card to an employee of the "Mermaid" school. Left alone, Oleg took a cell phone out of his pocket and called his grandmother. - Hi Grandma! - Hello son! How are you? - Mom asked me to check one of the modules to improve the detailed photo. I tested and found that this technology can only cause discomfort. Remember last year I told you that according to the online game World of Warcraft, I can be Lieutenant Wyyvern? Grandma rolled her eyes. - What does that have to do with talking to me, son? - At the moment I have a number of suggestions to improve the quality of some photos. I'm going to try them out and if the result isn't what I expected, next time I'll take an image enhancement test. Grandma was already eager to hear about the results of the unit being tested. Oleg wanted to tell her more, but had to wait until he got to the bottom of it. He explained that he would like to try out several suggestions regarding the quality of the photos that are visible on the monitor screen, and if his results are good enough, he will try to install a new module. And what photo enhancement modules can cause discomfort? It turned out that some operators could degrade the image quality by making the picture black and white, just by adding a little noise. Other devices could produce unacceptable quality simply by increasing the exposure. Unfortunately, Oleg was not able to figure out which modules can be installed in order to reduce the discomfort that these modules could cause. After a conversation with his grandmother, he decided that he shouldn't push his luck if his attempt to improve the quality of the photographs was not successful, and went to the headmaster's office. There he reported his plans to Oleg. As soon as he finished, the director said: - Okay, now go and wait for the test results in my office. Before Oleg could answer his words, someone spoke behind him. Turning around, he saw the principal of the school in the company of two senior managers. The director said: - I don't like that our best teacher has lost interest in learning.
