System Requirements: Operating System: Windows XP/Vista/7/8/10 CPU: 1.0 GHz Intel or AMD RAM: 512 MB Storage Space: 2 GBQ: Cocoa Touch: NSPopUpButton only returning one item I have a problem with my NSPopUpButton. I'm using NSTextField as a placeholder. I'm using the following code for the NSPopUpButton: NSMenu* m = [[NSMenu alloc] initWithTitle:nil]; NSPopUpButton* mn = [[NSPopUpButton alloc] initWithFrame:NSMakeRect(10, 100, 250, 100)]; [mn setShowBorderOnlyWhileMouseInside:YES]; [mn setTarget:self]; [mn setMenu:m]; [mn setAction:@selector(changeFilter)]; [mn addItemWithTitle:@"All"@selector(changeFilter)]; [mn addItemWithTitle:@"Moderated"@selector(changeFilter)]; [mn addItemWithTitle:@"Permanent"@selector(changeFilter)]; [m addSubmenu:mn]; [self addSubview:mn]; [m release]; [mn release]; Now, the thing is that when I'm clicking on the menu and I select the item, then the method is called but it's only returning the selected item. I'm trying to find why it's only returning the first item, and not all of them. I'm using the following code: - (IBAction)changeFilter:(id)sender { NSPopUpButton

For each task, enter a title, description and a choice of completion status (assign to self, assign to group, assign to project, assign to contact or assign to folder). 7. Create a group to make the list useful. 8. Share the list. Description:Organize:Pro is a powerful application that gives you the possibility to do so from the comfort of your desktop. Create great lists of tasks A large workspace is provided so you are able to view all of the things that you must do. These can easily be created with a single mouse click and can have various attributes. A task can represent either an action, information or decision. All three share the same visual aspect, but it let you better organize your time. Groups and subgroups can be created, in case something you need to do requires more steps. When creating a task you need to specify a name. Additionally, a description field lets you write down any important info, as well as the possibility to set a start and end date or choose to make it repeat every once in a while. If completion takes longer than expected, you can constantly update progress percentage. Furthermore, in case the created tasks are for more people, security clearance levels can be set from unclassified to top secret, and only accessed by authorized personnel. Arrange tasks in folders In a side navigation panel you can find several preset directories or projects. You can choose to leave tasks in the inbox, which is the default folder, or create your own and organize them as meetings or projects. Share tasks with team members Once your list is ready for completion, various sharing options allow you to spread out all tasks created. These can be sent by email, printed out on a sheet of paper and even saved as a report for easy distribution in a local network. In conclusion Taking everything into consideration, we can say that Organize:Pro gives you the possibility to cleverly create and share tasks in a team. The user friendly interface lets you quickly adapt and can save you time by easily identifying tasks arranged in custom folders. If you notice progress is slow in the work environment, give this application a try for a little extra boost in efficiency. Description: Create great lists of tasks for yourself or for team members.
