"The workbooks allow children to practice reading independently and the ability to produce the work themselves makes it very useful in the classroom. It makes great work for homework, too." "I have used it to build a basic vocabulary for my students." "This is an excellent program that really produces a great range of exercises to master any aspect of reading, but I would like a couple of additional enhancements. First, the text-to-speech system could be used a little more effectively in some exercises." "I found that it was a very flexible and inbuilt word bank and was a reasonable response time. It was easier than the 'traditional' method of making lots of separate files." "Most of the exercise were simple and straight-forward, not much effort was required to make a new type of exercise." "Overall I found this very useful. I was able to create quite a large number of tests which I thought were fairly suitable, so I recommend this to teachers who wish to use it effectively in their classes." "I like the way that it can be used in different ways, such as with a spoken text or one in which there is no spoken text." "There are two features that I particularly like: firstly, the ability to set different types of exercise for different groups of students, and secondly, the way that the results are displayed in coloured (not just black-and-white) boxes." "The package comes with a teaching manual and plenty of exercises to help develop vocabulary and reading comprehension." "I would recommend this to other teachers who
